Quantity Limits

The drugs listed below have limits based on U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA)-approved prescribing information, approved medical guidelines and/or the average utilization quantity for the drugs.

The limits listed below affect only the amount of medication that the prescription benefit plan pays for, not whether you can get a greater quantity. The final decision about the amount of medication you receive remains between you and your doctor.

Note: Some of the quantity limits have a prior authorization available if you exceed the drug's limit. Those drugs with a prior authorization available are noted in chart below. If your doctor has determined that a greater amount is appropriate, your doctor should request prior authorization for a larger quantity.
